Amir holds talks with Iranian president

The Amir met with Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi in Doha yesterday, the Amir and the Iranian president gave a joint statement after they held talks in the Amir’s drawing room.

The Amir reaffirmed that the State of Qatar and Islamic Republic of Iran are keen on strengthening and developing bilateral relations, as they are a major part of ensuring peace and stability in the region.

His Highness the Amir and the Iranian president noted the importance of the Vienna negotiations regarding the JCPOA and stressed the need to ensure the success of the talks.

His Highness the Amir and the Iranian president emphasized the need to preserve the JCPOA, noting that a just solution will contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.

Raisi said the two leaders discussed the JCPOA and the need to preserve it, noting that a just solution would contribute to ensuring peace and stability in the region.

The Amir and Raisi also discussed the sensitive issues between the two countries and their peoples.

The Amir added that several regional and international issues of joint interest were discussed, including the security and stability of the region. In this regard, the Amir reaffirmed that dialogue is the best way to resolve differences and that the region is going through a difficult period.

The Amir said he was briefed by the Iranian president on the outcome of the talks in Vienna, which he emphasized was constructive, promising a number of positive developments.
Qatar and Algeria yesterday issued a joint statement on the occasion of the 26th ministerial meeting between the GCC and the European Union in Brussels. The two leaders attended the meeting in the two countries' views at the invitation of His Highness the Amir of Qatar Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani. President Abdelmadjid Tebboune was hosted by His Excellency President of the European Council Charles Michel for a breakfast meeting prior to the joint press conference.

Joint communique

President Tebboune expressed his satisfaction with the consultations and co-operation between the two countries and looked forward to strengthening them at the level of the two leaders. The two sides also underscored the distinguished co-operation relations and looked forward to promoting them in all fields, especially in economy, trade and the gas sector. In this framework, President Tebboune congratulated President al-Thani on his success in the 2021 elections and the fact that he is the first candidate of the opposition to be elected Secretary-General of the Gas Exporting Countries Forum. The two leaders emphasized that the opportunities available in the two countries as well as by enabling opportunities for investment integration between the two countries and establishing partnerships, as well as increasing and diversifying the volume of trade exchanges, are among the developments that will reinforce the existing situation on the Arab region, allowing the need to seek to establish bilateral international relations that would be governed by the Charter of the United Nations and the principles established in this framework. They stressed the importance of upholding the values of unity and solidarity among Arab countries to overcome the current crises that the region is going through, and agreed to support and strengthen the frameworks and mechanisms for joint Arab action with regard to technical fulfilments, especially the upcoming Arab summit in Marrakesh.

In this regard, His Highness the Amir stressed the importance of President Tebboune’s efforts and his keenness on providing an atmosphere conducive to the success of this visit, stressing the need to support and promote the unity and solidarity of the Arab states, especially the Arab countries of the region, in light of the common challenges facing the Arab countries of the region.

According to what was announced, both sides agreed to support the Palestinian cause to ensure that the rights of the Palestinian people are respected and the establishment of their independent state on the 1967 borders with the establishment of the Arab Peace Initiative. They also stressed the importance of achieving the Palestinian national unity and the endeavor launched by Algeria in this important approach and the measures efforts made by many Arab countries, especially Qatar, to achieve the desired progress towards this supreme goal.

The two leaders also discussed the most important issues that are of concern to the Arab region and the African continent and reviewed the results of the preparatory meetings on the positions on the need to formulate peaceful solutions that achieve the aspirations of the people concerned and distance them from the dangers of foreign intervention.

In the context of the cooperation and support exchange, the leaders agreed to support the Arab countries of the region in the face of the unprecedented economic crisis. They welcomed the role of the Arab countries and organisations in mobilising more international resources to meet the needs of the Arab region, and stressed the importance of joint Arab action with regard to the important role of parliamentarians and their ability to contribute to emphasising the role of parliamentarians and their contribution to the development of the region.

The two leaders concluded their meeting with a joint press conference, during which they affirmed their commitment to the value of the Arab unity, as well as the need to consolidate and develop it at all levels.

He and his accompanying delegation met here with a group of young people and students at the American University in Doha's (AUD) law school, where he and his delegation held meetings with leaders of the university, the students' unions and the young people. During his visit, President Tebboune expressed his thanks and appreciation to His Highness the Amir. The two leaders also discussed the most important issues that are of concern to the Arab region and the African continent, and reviewed the results of the preparatory meetings on the positions on the need to formulate peaceful solutions that achieve the aspirations of the people concerned and distance them from the dangers of foreign intervention.

The two leaders also discussed the most important issues that are of concern to the Arab region and the African continent, and reviewed the results of the preparatory meetings on the positions on the need to formulate peaceful solutions that achieve the aspirations of the people concerned and distance them from the dangers of foreign intervention.

At the conclusion of the visit, the President of the Algerian Republic expressed his thanks and appreciation to His Highness the Amir of Qatar for the hospitality and warm reception he and his accompanying delegation received during their visit to Qatar, and thanked the Amir for Qatar’s leadership and support in the fight against COVID-19, and thanked the Amir for the warm reception and hospitality he and his accompanying delegation received during their visit to Qatar, and thanked the Amir for Qatar’s leadership and support in the fight against COVID-19.

The two sides agreed to support and strengthen the frameworks and mechanisms for joint Arab action with regard to technical fulfilments, especially the upcoming Arab summit in Marrakesh.

In this regard, President Tebboune expressed the importance of the role of parliamentarians and their ability to contribute to emphasising the role of parliamentarians and their contribution to the development of the region. The two leaders also discussed the most important issues that are of concern to the Arab region and the African continent, and reviewed the results of the preparatory meetings on the positions on the need to formulate peaceful solutions that achieve the aspirations of the people concerned and distance them from the dangers of foreign intervention.

At the conclusion of the visit, the President of the Algerian Republic expressed his thanks and appreciation to His Highness the Amir of Qatar for the hospitality and warm reception he and his accompanying delegation received during their visit to Qatar, and thanked the Amir for Qatar’s leadership and support in the fight against COVID-19, and thanked the Amir for the warm reception and hospitality he and his accompanying delegation received during their visit to Qatar, and thanked the Amir for Qatar’s leadership and support in the fight against COVID-19.

The two leaders also discussed the most important issues that are of concern to the Arab region and the African continent, and reviewed the results of the preparatory meetings on the positions on the need to formulate peaceful solutions that achieve the aspirations of the people concerned and distance them from the dangers of foreign intervention.
Kahramaa launches its long-term strategy 2030

The Qatar General Electricity and Water Corporation (Kahramaa) announced yesterday the launching of the updated long-term strategic plan 2014-2030 in its two (second and third) phases.

The corporation said that the launch of the long-term strategy (2014-2030) in its two (second and third) phases, which took place during a meeting of its leaders, through which its vision were updated to achieve regional and international leadership in its mission to provide high-quality sustainable electricity and water in Qatar. The meeting was chaired by Issa bin Hilal al-Kuwari, President of Kahramaa.

Kahramaa’s long-term strategy (2014-2030) has set a roadmap for sustainable growth to achieve its vision, taking into consideration cạnh myes of the whole Qatar energy sector’s strategy. The updated strategy of Kahramaa (phase 2-3) represents a blueprint based on scientific foundations and evaluation studies, aiming to maintain the corporation’s regional excellence in the fields of comprehensive planning for water networks and electricity grid implementing the work in the best possible way, with high-qualified concepts and facilities.

The meeting discussed a detailed presentation of the corporate planning cycle for 2022. It also touched on the mechanisms of analysis and strategic planning, including the corporations’ organisational structure, audit procedures, and performance monitoring to ensure the achievement of Kahramaa’s development goals and provide the best services. It was launched to start moving towards the comprehensive strategic transformation of the corporation, which is based on results managed by precisely defined performance indicators. This puts the corporation in the perfect position to be an essential and effective partner in the comprehensive development process. Since the launch of the strategy, all departments have worked to achieve the goals, reflecting the basic values adopted by the corporation, such as service quality, job performance, levels of accuracy and efficiency, innovation, and technical creativity.

It is worth noting that Kahramaa has started following this strategy since 2014. It was launched to start moving towards the comprehensive strategic transformation of the corporation, which is based on results managed by precisely defined performance indicators. This puts the corporation in the perfect position to be an essential and effective partner in the comprehensive development process. Since the launch of the strategy, all departments have worked to achieve the goals, reflecting the basic values adopted by the corporation, such as service quality, job performance, levels of accuracy and efficiency, innovation, and technical creativity.

Al-Kaabi chairs GECF’s ministerial meeting

HE the Minister of State for Energy Affairs Saad Sherida al-Kaabi yesterday chaired the extraordinary ministerial meeting of the GECF in Doha, held in preparation of the 6th Heads of State Summit. Speaking at the opening of the meeting, he stressed its importance in promoting natural gas as the fuel of choice in the global energy mix, and in adding momentum to the Forum’s collective efforts to diversify and manage forward and to encourage regional and international dialogue on the transition to low carbon economies. He reiterated that “we should make sure that the world understands that even in an unprecedented period of green transition, natural gas remains to be a crucial part of the sustainable growth in the gas industry, and to continue to promote and provide natural gas as a valuable, abundant, flexible, clean, and secure energy source in the transition to low carbon economies.”

NURTURING global leaders

Secondary and 6th Form open day Sunday 27 February 3 pm

Uniting students at our state-of-the-art Al Wajba Campus

World-class facilities

Nurturing students aged 3-18 years to become advanced performers, global leaders and enterprising learners with a world-class British education.
The National Human Rights Council (NHRC) and the Arab Network for Human Rights Institutions are expected to issue a package of recommendations and an action plan to follow up and to form a working group of regulators and relevant stakeholders to achieve this. The action plan and the recommendations that will be issued by the conference will serve as a compass to guide national human rights institutions and promote their role to assume their responsibilities, in order to follow up and implement the 2030 Agenda.

The NHRC Chairperson noted that this conference is expected to achieve a package of goals related to strengthening the role of national human rights institutions and enabling them to follow up and implement the Sustainable Development Goals, as well as encouraging the government sector to integrate with stakeholders and to adopt an approach that includes the whole society, thus accelerating the implementation of the 2030 Agenda.

The event also highlighted the significant bilateral relations between Qatar and Japan in various sectors.

APRM Tender Committee announces the following Tender

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Tender No.</th>
<th>Value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>01036/2021</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>01037/2021</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>01038/2021</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Ministry of Municipality's Islands Beaches Section under the General Civil Defence, in cooperation with the Ministry of Municipality and Environment, launched the four-phase campaign to clean up the beaches of the country. The campaign started from Al Kharaij Beach until Abu Samra and went on for three days, resulting in the collection of 15 tonnes of various waste materials. The ministry has urged beach-goers to maintain the cleanliness of the beaches of the country and to dispose their waste at designated places only.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I. NURAMA HAKIMIN MOHAMMAD
B lidar of Philippine Passport No. P1661720A QID No. 2086082670

harry change my name from

NURAMA HAKIMIN MOHAMMAD
to

NURAMA MOHAMMAD ABUKAR

Any objections, please contact The Permanent Committee for Nationality and Expatriates Within 15 days from the publication of the notice.

Large sum of money seized

The Hamad International Airport Customs and the Public Security Department at the Ministry of Interior seized a large sum of money from a passenger who was leaving the country. The passenger was not disclosure the money and failed to produce any evidence that it belonged to him.

Japan National Day celebrated

A ceremony to celebrate the Japanese National Day in Qatar, which also marked the 15th birthday of the Emperor of Japan, was held yesterday at Maria Maisa Kempinski. From left to right: Japanese ambassador Satoshi Maeda and the co-chair of the Japan-Qatar National Committee, Yuki Uchida, Japan's special representative to the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change HI Sheikh Dr Fanah bin Nasser bin Ahmed bin Ali Al Thani, Singapore ambassador to Qatar, Justice Dr Serdang Bin Sultan Md Ali, representative of Protocol Sanad Ali and at the cake-cutting ceremony. The event also highlighted the significant bilateral relations between Qatar and Japan in various sectors.
Qatar gets ready for FIFA World Cup with state-of-the-art fibre network

High-speed contribution infrastructure will be implemented at all broadcast sites, including the eight stadiums

Fifth Fath Al Khair cruise to begin on July 1

Katara, the Cultural Village Foundation, announced yesterday the timing and destinations of the Fifth Fath Al Khair cruise to begin on July 1. The cruise, which is set to start in Doha, will sail to Marseilles in France, to reach its last stop in Barcelona, Spain.

QM plan to make Qatar outdoor art museum hailed as ‘outstanding’

Ooredoo’s prepaid customers to get ‘even more value for money’

Universities’ Poet Competition final to be held on March 1

Thanks & Gratitude

Mourdass Massoud Massoud

May his soul rest in peace

Rashid Murad Massoud

John Rashid Massoud

Linda Rashid Massoud Awad

Liza Rashid Massoud

The value of the competition prizes is QR180,000, with the winners in either category receiving QR50,000 (first), QR25,000 (second) and QR15,000 (third).

Ooredoo’s prepaid customers to get ‘even more value for money’

Ooredoo has announced a new promotion for its prepaid customers, promising ‘more value for money’ when they recharge digitally.

Universities’ Poet Competition final to be held on March 1

The penultimate stage of the ‘Universities’ Poet Competition’, titled ‘The Ninth Poetry Competition for the Vikings \\
On Board Al Arab’, was launched yesterday.

Zekreet, East-West" in Zekreet, Hirst's "West-East/West-East" in Katara, Hirst's "The Mirage Movement" in Doha, etc. are all part of Qatar’s cultural heritage. They are not only unique and valuable, but also reflect the country’s rich history and culture. Through these exhibitions, Qatar is establishing itself as a cultural hub in the region and encouraging public participation in the arts.

The arts and culture sector is playing a crucial role in Qatar’s development. It not only promotes the country’s identity and heritage, but also contributes to economic growth and social development. Qatar is known for its excellent public art programme, which includes various initiatives such as the World Cup Public Art Programme and the Katara Art Commission. These programmes have helped to increase public awareness of the arts and their importance.

The Katara Art Commission, established in 2009, is an important institution that supports and promotes Qatar’s cultural heritage. It has commissioned numerous projects, including the "East-West/West-East" art installation by Anish Kapoor, which is located in Katara’s Museum Quarter. The commission has been successful in bringing together artists from different backgrounds and cultures, creating unique and thought-provoking works of art.

Ooredoo’s prepaid customers to get ‘even more value for money’

Ooredoo has announced a new promotion for its prepaid customers, promising ‘more value for money’ when they recharge digitally.

Universities’ Poet Competition final to be held on March 1

The penultimate stage of the ‘Universities’ Poet Competition’, titled ‘The Ninth Poetry Competition for the Vikings \\
On Board Al Arab’, was launched yesterday.

The arts and culture sector is playing a crucial role in Qatar’s development. It not only promotes the country’s identity and heritage, but also contributes to economic growth and social development. Qatar is known for its excellent public art programme, which includes various initiatives such as the World Cup Public Art Programme and the Katara Art Commission. These programmes have helped to increase public awareness of the arts and their importance.

The Katara Art Commission, established in 2009, is an important institution that supports and promotes Qatar’s cultural heritage. It has commissioned numerous projects, including the "East-West/West-East" art installation by Anish Kapoor, which is located in Katara’s Museum Quarter. The commission has been successful in bringing together artists from different backgrounds and cultures, creating unique and thought-provoking works of art.

Ooredoo’s prepaid customers to get ‘even more value for money’

Ooredoo has announced a new promotion for its prepaid customers, promising ‘more value for money’ when they recharge digitally.

Universities’ Poet Competition final to be held on March 1

The penultimate stage of the ‘Universities’ Poet Competition’, titled ‘The Ninth Poetry Competition for the Vikings \\
On Board Al Arab’, was launched yesterday.

The arts and culture sector is playing a crucial role in Qatar’s development. It not only promotes the country’s identity and heritage, but also contributes to economic growth and social development. Qatar is known for its excellent public art programme, which includes various initiatives such as the World Cup Public Art Programme and the Katara Art Commission. These programmes have helped to increase public awareness of the arts and their importance.

The Katara Art Commission, established in 2009, is an important institution that supports and promotes Qatar’s cultural heritage. It has commissioned numerous projects, including the "East-West/West-East" art installation by Anish Kapoor, which is located in Katara’s Museum Quarter. The commission has been successful in bringing together artists from different backgrounds and cultures, creating unique and thought-provoking works of art.

Ooredoo’s prepaid customers to get ‘even more value for money’

Ooredoo has announced a new promotion for its prepaid customers, promising ‘more value for money’ when they recharge digitally.

Universities’ Poet Competition final to be held on March 1

The penultimate stage of the ‘Universities’ Poet Competition’, titled ‘The Ninth Poetry Competition for the Vikings \\
On Board Al Arab’, was launched yesterday.

The arts and culture sector is playing a crucial role in Qatar’s development. It not only promotes the country’s identity and heritage, but also contributes to economic growth and social development. Qatar is known for its excellent public art programme, which includes various initiatives such as the World Cup Public Art Programme and the Katara Art Commission. These programmes have helped to increase public awareness of the arts and their importance.

The Katara Art Commission, established in 2009, is an important institution that supports and promotes Qatar’s cultural heritage. It has commissioned numerous projects, including the "East-West/West-East" art installation by Anish Kapoor, which is located in Katara’s Museum Quarter. The commission has been successful in bringing together artists from different backgrounds and cultures, creating unique and thought-provoking works of art.

Ooredoo’s prepaid customers to get ‘even more value for money’

Ooredoo has announced a new promotion for its prepaid customers, promising ‘more value for money’ when they recharge digitally.

Universities’ Poet Competition final to be held on March 1

The penultimate stage of the ‘Universities’ Poet Competition’, titled ‘The Ninth Poetry Competition for the Vikings \\
On Board Al Arab’, was launched yesterday.
HMC launches female outpatient physiotherapy-orthopaedic unit

To keep pace with the increasing demand for high quality health care, and in line with the administration of Qatar Rehabilitation Institute (QRI) and Hamad Medical Corporation (HMC), Qatar's rehabilitation hospital has established a new female physiotherapy-orthopaedic unit.

The outpatient facility will offer a variety of evidence-based physical therapy techniques and interventions aimed at helping female patients develop, maintain and restore physical function, prevent and treat musculoskeletal conditions and disease, and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care. The facility features two Orthopaedic and Rehabilitation Clinics, a Rehabilitation Gym and an activity area for group exercise programmes, which are accessible from 7am to 9pm, Sunday to Thursday.

Adrienne Amponin, acting supervisor of the Physical Therapy Outpatient Female-Orthopaedic (SPOF) Unit, explained the team’s efforts to make the treatment sessions more engaging. "We conceptualised a mini-supervised group therapy activity for our patients, encouraging them to go back home. Group Exercise Therapy is a group of patients meeting together for a certain time to help improve mobility, health and quality of life. The group therapy allows progressive exercises of stretches aimed at improving joint movement and muscle strength, which can ultimately improve our patients’ mobility and independence.

Our main focus is on maintaining each patient’s functional potential by introducing individually tailored exercise and manual therapy techniques. Mechanical and physical mobility is the key to following such a programme. The team is dedicated to female adult patients, "We conceptualised a small approach that involves the patient and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care."

The skilled and knowledgeable physiotherapists are committed to providing compassionate and evidence-based therapy tailored to the individual patient's needs.

Noora Rashid Eisa al-Mudahka, supervisor of the Physical Therapy Outpatient Female-Orthopaedic (SPOF) Unit, explained that the team continues to work on establishing a female patient base.

"We conceptualised a small approach that involves the patient and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care. We provide a holistic approach that involves the patient and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care."

"The growth in our local female patient population has made it necessary for us to establish a separate female clinic. As a result, we have had a consistent increase in the number of patients seeking help to improve their mobility.

The growth in our local female patient population has made it necessary for us to establish a separate female clinic. As a result, we have had a consistent increase in the number of patients seeking help to improve their mobility.

The facility caters to the diverse needs of adult female patients who present with musculoskeletal and orthopaedic conditions, such as fractures or traumatic fractures; such as osteoporosis, fragility fractures, arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis; bones and joints such as osteoarthritis, mechanical and physical mobility intervention was."

Therapy intervention was based on a comprehensive baseline assessment

Physiotherapy intervention was based on a comprehensive baseline assessment and includes individual treatment plans.

Understanding the patient's condition and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care."

"We conceptualised a small approach that involves the patient and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care."

The skilled and knowledgeable physiotherapists are committed to providing compassionate and evidence-based therapy tailored to the individual patient's needs.

"The growth in our local female patient population has made it necessary for us to establish a separate female clinic. As a result, we have had a consistent increase in the number of patients seeking help to improve their mobility.

The growth in our local female patient population has made it necessary for us to establish a separate female clinic. As a result, we have had a consistent increase in the number of patients seeking help to improve their mobility.

The facility caters to the diverse needs of adult female patients who present with musculoskeletal and orthopaedic conditions, such as fractures or traumatic fractures; such as osteoporosis, fragility fractures, arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis; bones and joints such as osteoarthritis, mechanical and physical mobility intervention was."

Therapy intervention was based on a comprehensive baseline assessment and includes individual treatment plans.

Understanding the patient's condition and the family in clinical decision making and plan of care."

The skilled and knowledgeable physiotherapists are committed to providing compassionate and evidence-based therapy tailored to the individual patient's needs.
Qatar Airways unveils unique retro livery aircraft to celebrate 25 years

Qatar Airways welcomes a nostalgic flashback to the early days of operations with the delivery of a Boeing 777 retro livery aircraft, the airline’s first ever aircraft and iconic to many veterans and crew. The aircraft, which made its retro unveiling during a special launch event at Flight QR 0041 from Hamad Inte- rnational Airport (Doha) to Charles de Gaulle Airport, Paris, on 26 April, is the first of two retro livery aircraft to arrive in Doha over the coming 12 months, celebrating 15 years of operations during its milestone one.

Qatar Airways Group Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Akbar Al Baker, said: “We are incredibly ex- citation to unveil our 25th an- niversary edition aircraft and a unique addition to our fleet. We hope this retro design will bring many memories of travel to our current and past flyers. It is a small token of our appreciation to all crew that have flown with us in this unique capacity, and to the national carrier, one of the world’s best airlines.”

Inaugural Flight QR0041 from Hamad International Airport to Paris, will become a familiar sight in the skies as part of the national carrier’s 25th anniversary celebrations. Qatar Airways has been described by airline industry analysts as the ‘most successful airline launch’ in the history of the aviation industry, making it one of the world’s best airlines. Qatar Airways is the national carrier for Qatar and is a proud member of the Qantas Airways Group, now stands at the forefront of the commercial aviation industrie, connecting Doha to more than 490 destinations across six continents via the world’s best airline’s home base, Hamad International Airport (HIA), multiple award-winning services onboard and award-winning lounges at Hamad International Airport (HIA), as well as the world’s Best Business Class Airline Seat; “World’s Best Business Class Onboard Catering,” and “Best Airline in the Middle East.” The airline continues to stand alone among its peers, with Skytrax consistently recognizing the airline with top marks for its product and service quality, as well as brand strengths, as is evident in the highest possible score of 10 in the Skytrax Global Rating忘记了10.

The Qantas Airways Group CEO, Tony Pate, said: “Qatar Airways has also been recognized as the best airline in the world to achieve the presti- gious Skytrax Award. This is another testament to the high level of customer care delivered by Qatar Airways. We follow the same strategy of the Qantas WA in the Middle East and Arabic markets can also shine, and we hope to introduce a unique design to the world.”

Qantas Airways Group is the first airline to announce a partnership with Qatar Airways to launch a joint venture between the two airlines. The partnership will enable Qatar Airways to offer flights between Doha and Abu Dhabi, and Qatar Airways will be the first to receive a Boeing 787-9 Dreamliner to operate between Doha and Abu Dhabi. The partnership will also enable Qatar Airways to offer flights between Doha and Dubai, and Qatar Airways will be the first to receive a Boeing 777-9 Dreamliner to operate between Doha and Dubai. The partnership will also enable Qatar Airways to offer flights between Doha and Singapore, and Qatar Airways will be the first to receive a Boeing 787-9 Dreamliner to operate between Doha and Singapore.

The first aircraft to be delivered is a Boeing 777-100, registered in Qatar as A7-BGA, and will be used to fly Qatar Airways’ Qatar Airways Frequent Flyer programme, and will be the first aircraft to fly between Doha and Singapore.

Qantas Airways Group is the first airline to announce a partnership with Qatar Airways to offer flights between Doha and Abu Dhabi, and Qatar Airways will be the first to receive a Boeing 787-9 Dreamliner to operate between Doha and Abu Dhabi. The partnership will enable Qatar Airways to offer flights between Doha and Dubai, and Qatar Airways will be the first to receive a Boeing 777-9 Dreamliner to operate between Doha and Dubai. The partnership will also enable Qatar Airways to offer flights between Doha and Singapore, and Qatar Airways will be the first to receive a Boeing 787-9 Dreamliner to operate between Doha and Singapore.

The first aircraft to be delivered is a Boeing 777-100, registered in Qatar as A7-BGA, and will be used to fly Qatar Airways’ Qatar Airways Frequent Flyer programme, and will be the first aircraft to fly between Doha and Singapore.
New screening tool to help prevent genetic diseases in the Qatari population

A team by collaborating researchers from Weill Cornell Medicine-Qatar (WCM-Q), Qatar Foundation (QF), Doha Shifa Hospital, and the Bruce Webster Program at New York University (NYU) has announced a new genomic medicine tool to assess genetic diseases in the Qatari population. Called the QChip, this screening tool marks a significant step in leveraging precision medicine techniques by focusing on genetic medicine and theBruce Webster Program at the WCM NY.

The QChip screening tool is designed to assess genetic variants and unique to Qatar, which are not observed in European Americans, South American, African Americans, or Puerto Ricans. The tool assesses genetic variations in the DNA samples from European Americans, South Americans, African Americans, and Puerto Ricans.

The genomic database of the Qatari population is being established as part of the QChip project, which is expected to produce powerful screening tools. The project is expected to produce powerful screening tools for a given population relevant to the genetic health of the Qatari population.

The research team has demonstrated that the QChip screening tool marks significant advances in the fight against cancer. The QChip screening tool is expected to be a valuable tool for assessing the genetic health of the Qatari population. The research team is also exploring the potential of the QChip screening tool for assessing the genetic health of other populations.

The research team has demonstrated that the QChip screening tool marks significant advances in the fight against cancer. The QChip screening tool is expected to be a valuable tool for assessing the genetic health of the Qatari population. The research team is also exploring the potential of the QChip screening tool for assessing the genetic health of other populations.
Qatar Camel Festival attracts wide participation

The first edition of the Qatar Camel Festival, which continues until March 23, is drawing an attracted wide participation from countries around the world. The 45-day event, features competitions for camels of different breeds and offers various activities and entertainment, is considered an excellent opportunity for tourists and visitors to exchange experiences, expertise and discuss related issues while attracting tourists from the previous generations. Hamad al-Ali, head of the organizing committee of the festival, told Qatar Times that Qatar is a country where the economic sector is booming and the country is modernizing with considerable participation from many countries, even outside the GCC. The process is of considerable high value, making the event highly commented.

QC organizes ‘winter’ event in support of refugees, IDPs

The event was held to draw people’s attention, raise awareness, and internally displaced persons (IDPs), and demonstrate that Qatar is serving winter through an innovative approach.

During the event, which was held for the first time in Qatar, a group of 150 people enjoyed a fun and joyful winter in the Qatari capital, with the Qatar Foundation’s tents set up in the heart of the city. The event aimed to raise awareness about the situation of IDPs, who are at risk of freezing during the winter season, and encourage more people to support them.

The event included a variety of creative initiatives and innovative projects, including activities with the community in Qatar,” QC’s Programmes and Community Development Department acting director, Mohamed al-Ma’ruf, told Qatar Times. The initiative represents one of the efforts of the government and the Qatar Foundation, along with other stakeholders, to support the welfare of IDPs and those left behind.

Windy conditions forecast

Along with the cold, winds are expected in some places at times today. The Qatar Met department has stated windy conditions have also been forecast in offshore areas along with high waves. The wind speed may go up to 28 knots offshore and 25 knots inland today, according to the Qatar Met department. The surge forecast says moderate temperatures is expected during daytime along with slight to blowing dust in some places at times. Offshore, it will be fairly high, while scattered clouds and slight dusty conditions are also likely. The temperature is expected to range from 26-28°C during the day and 13-15°C at night. The upcoming forecast indicates that the temperature will decrease slightly during the week.

The dome of the National Hall of the Festival will also be welcomed to the event by Qatar Foundation, and the event will be attended by guests from various groups.

The event is being held to draw attention to the situation of IDPs and those left behind, and to offer support and assistance to them. The event aims to raise awareness about the situation of IDPs, who are at risk of freezing during the winter season, and encourage more people to support them.

The event will be held at the Qatar National Convention Centre, with a series of activities planned to take place throughout the day. The event will include a variety of creative initiatives and innovative projects, including activities with the community in Qatar,” QC’s Programmes and Community Development Department acting director, Mohamed al-Ma’ruf, told Qatar Times. The initiative represents one of the efforts of the government and the Qatar Foundation, along with other stakeholders, to support the welfare of IDPs and those left behind.

Windy conditions forecast

Along with the cold, winds are expected in some places at times today. The Qatar Met department has stated windy conditions have also been forecast in offshore areas along with high waves. The wind speed may go up to 28 knots offshore and 25 knots inland today, according to the Qatar Met department. The surge forecast says moderate temperatures is expected during daytime along with slight to blowing dust in some places at times. Offshore, it will be fairly high, while scattered clouds and slight dusty conditions are also likely. The temperature is expected to range from 26-28°C during the day and 13-15°C at night. The upcoming forecast indicates that the temperature will decrease slightly during the week.

The dome of the National Hall of the Festival will also be welcomed to the event by Qatar Foundation, and the event will be attended by guests from various groups.

The event is being held to draw attention to the situation of IDPs and those left behind, and to offer support and assistance to them. The event aims to raise awareness about the situation of IDPs, who are at risk of freezing during the winter season, and encourage more people to support them.

Windy conditions forecast

Along with the cold, winds are expected in some places at times today. The Qatar Met department has stated windy conditions have also been forecast in offshore areas along with high waves. The wind speed may go up to 28 knots offshore and 25 knots inland today, according to the Qatar Met department. The surge forecast says moderate temperatures is expected during daytime along with slight to blowing dust in some places at times. Offshore, it will be fairly high, while scattered clouds and slight dusty conditions are also likely. The temperature is expected to range from 26-28°C during the day and 13-15°C at night. The upcoming forecast indicates that the temperature will decrease slightly during the week.

The dome of the National Hall of the Festival will also be welcomed to the event by Qatar Foundation, and the event will be attended by guests from various groups.

The event is being held to draw attention to the situation of IDPs and those left behind, and to offer support and assistance to them. The event aims to raise awareness about the situation of IDPs, who are at risk of freezing during the winter season, and encourage more people to support them.
US allies united if Russia invades, but at odds on other scenarios

The United States and its allies have mapped out detailed plans for a range of scenarios short of a military invasion, “said one of the senior diplomats.

The trigger point would be continued, they said. The most important factor was that the West remained strong and united in its effort to deter Putin, he said.

The White House was forced to clarify the US definition of “invasion” in January as military troops across the border, after President Biden had previously suggested that there might be a “low-end” invasion.

The actions and achievements of the imam played a significant role in the unification of the Arabian Peninsula, in which every town and village had its own ruler, and the wide range of actions Russians could take. Telegraphing US and allied plans now could allow Putin to do a precise cost-benefit analysis, giving him a potential advantage. The White House was forced to clarify the US definition of “invasion” in January as military troops across the border, after President Biden had previously suggested that there might be a “low-end” invasion.

The hyper focus on a physical invasion has taken some of the attention off other irregular warfare threats, but also reflects the understanding that there will be no Russian military operation.

For all the talk of a “master EU” sanctions package, European diplomats say Russia’s closest friends in the bloc are not enthusiastic and the latter is only a short-term measure.

The rest of the bloc is not keen to delve into this scenario, because it threatens to open up a new division and break the mold forward, several officials said.

“Many EU countries do not want to go into a discussion about what else might merit sanctions, if it is a sectarian or a political matter that affects the bloc,” said one of the senior diplomats.

Western countries have been divided over whether to impose a military invasion and continue with other sanctions.

Putin signed yesterday a decree designating by Unesco as a world heritage site in Diriyah. The actions and achievements of the imam played a significant role in the unification of the Arabian Peninsula, in which every town and village had its own ruler, and the wide range of actions Russians could take.

The Saudis celebrate the country’s National Day on September 23 of each year to commemorate the unification of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia after it was recaptured in 1240AH /1824CE after seven years of work and struggle, and the people gathered thereafter, then looked to Russia to help them wrest control of the Donetsk and Luhansk regions inside Ukraine. A Russian parliament member, as an ally to protect them against the separatists, toldReuters last month that the separatists would continue to operate on the territory of the Donetsk and Luhansk regions after the end of the separatists’ role, as the best chance for a solution. The accords call for a peaceful resolution of this conflict but has backed the separatists and former Donetsk political leader, as an ally to protect them against the separatists. The agreement is expected to be signed in the coming days.

The Founding Day represents a dear national milestone that the country celebrates every year, to commemorate the unification of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia after it was recaptured in 1240AH /1824CE after seven years of work and struggle, and the people gathered thereafter, then looked to Russia to help them wrest control of the Donetsk and Luhansk regions inside Ukraine. A Russian parliament member, as an ally to protect them against the separatists, told Reuters last month that the separatists would continue to operate on the territory of the Donetsk and Luhansk regions after the end of the separatists’ role, as the best chance for a solution. The accords call for a peaceful resolution of this conflict but has backed the separatists and former Donetsk political leader, as an ally to protect them against the separatists. The agreement is expected to be signed in the coming days.

Putin said it would necessitate a “swift and forceful military response.”

Russia has been criticized for its role in supporting the separatists, who have been fighting against the Ukrainian government and calling for independence.

The Founding Day represents a dear national milestone that the country celebrates every year, to commemorate the unification of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia after it was recaptured in 1240AH /1824CE after seven years of work and struggle, and the people gathered thereafter, then looked to Russia to help them wrest control of the Donetsk and Luhansk regions inside Ukraine. A Russian parliament member, as an ally to protect them against the separatists, told Reuters last month that the separatists would continue to operate on the territory of the Donetsk and Luhansk regions after the end of the separatists’ role, as the best chance for a solution. The accords call for a peaceful resolution of this conflict but has backed the separatists and former Donetsk political leader, as an ally to protect them against the separatists. The agreement is expected to be signed in the coming days.

The White House was forced to clarify the US definition of “invasion” in January as military troops across the border, after President Biden had previously suggested that there might be a “low-end” invasion.

The most important factor was that the West remained strong and united in its effort to deter Putin, he said.

The hyper focus on a physical invasion has taken some of the attention off other irregular warfare threats, but also reflects the understanding that there will be no Russian military operation.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.

The most important factor was that the West remained strong and united in its effort to deter Putin, he said.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.

They believed that in order for sanctions to be effective, they would ideally be imposed all at once and all at once.
Australia urges ‘full investigation’ into China naval laser incident

Reuters

Australians are worried that a Chinese laser pointed at a warship would end all coronavirus restrictions in the country. Many are calling for a full investigation into the incident. Prime Minister Anthony Albanese has said that the laser was “not a friendly act”.

Trump’s new social media app begins slow rollout

Reuters

Donald Trump’s new social media app, Truth Social, began rolling out last week. The plan to ditch remaining social media platforms could end up being “half-hearted” by Trump’s critics, leading some concerned about the safety of social media.

US announces sanctions against rebel territories

Reuters

The United States has announced sanctions against several rebel territories. The sanctions are aimed at supporting the territorial integrity and stability of the region.

Johnson scraps Covid restrictions in England

Reuters

LONDON, Jan 14 (Reuters) - Britain said on Monday it was scrapping the remaining legal restrictions on Covid-19 due to a rapid vaccination programme and a reduction in hospital admissions.

Defying West, Putin recognizes Ukraine separatist regions

REUTERS

MOSSOW, Jan 14 (Reuters) - In one of the most provocative moves of his presidency, Russian President Vladimir Putin has recognized two separatist regions in Ukraine.

Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese said that the Chinese laser was a “very big threat to us”. He added that China had previously warned Australia not to support Taiwan.

President Vladimir Putin has recognized the so-called Donetsk and Lugansk People’s Republics in Ukraine following a televised national address.

Russia and Ukraine have accused each other of making provocations in the territory.

The United States has imposed sanctions on several rebel territories, including the Donetsk and Lugansk People’s Republics, in response to Putin’s recognition.

The move comes as tensions between Moscow and the West continue to escalate.

Meanwhile, US Secretary of State Antony Blinken has said that the US is prepared to use “all available means” to defend Ukraine.

US officials have also warned that Russia could use the recognition of the separatist regions as an excuse to annex EU member states.

The move has also sparked concerns about the stability of the region, with some experts warning that it could lead to an increase in violence.

The United States has imposed sanctions on several rebel territories, including the Donetsk and Lugansk People’s Republics, in response to Putin’s recognition.

The move comes as tensions between Moscow and the West continue to escalate.

Meanwhile, US Secretary of State Antony Blinken has said that the US is prepared to use “all available means” to defend Ukraine.

US officials have also warned that Russia could use the recognition of the separatist regions as an excuse to annex EU member states.

The move has also sparked concerns about the stability of the region, with some experts warning that it could lead to an increase in violence.

The United States has imposed sanctions on several rebel territories, including the Donetsk and Lugansk People’s Republics, in response to Putin’s recognition.

The move comes as tensions between Moscow and the West continue to escalate.

Meanwhile, US Secretary of State Antony Blinken has said that the US is prepared to use “all available means” to defend Ukraine.

US officials have also warned that Russia could use the recognition of the separatist regions as an excuse to annex EU member states.

The move has also sparked concerns about the stability of the region, with some experts warning that it could lead to an increase in violence.

The United States has imposed sanctions on several rebel territories, including the Donetsk and Lugansk People’s Republics, in response to Putin’s recognition.

The move comes as tensions between Moscow and the West continue to escalate.

Meanwhile, US Secretary of State Antony Blinken has said that the US is prepared to use “all available means” to defend Ukraine.

US officials have also warned that Russia could use the recognition of the separatist regions as an excuse to annex EU member states.

The move has also sparked concerns about the stability of the region, with some experts warning that it could lead to an increase in violence.
Prime minister meets Iranian president

Amir reiterates dialogue as the best way to resolve differences

From Page 1

His Highness the Amir noted that his session with President Raisi addressed the Palestinian cause as the central and pivotal issue in the region, and emphasized the need to stop the Israeli attacks against Palestinians and to find a political solution to these issues as soon as possible.

On the occasion of Qatar’s hosting of the FIFA World Cup, Amir expressed his congratulations on the Iranian team’s qualification for the tournament, and extended an invitation to President Raisi to attend the tournament, and welcomed all the Iranian fans to enjoy the matches. The Iranian president expressed delight at his visit to Qatar and his warm reception by Amir, for the best way to resolve differences.