De Mevius takes surprise lead as al-Attiyah, Loeb lose time

Bahrain's Sebastien Loeb and Nasser al-Attiyah during Dakar Rally yesterday.

De Mevius finished the 414km test in fourth place overall, which was in everyone's mind as the Umm Salal players celebrate with the trophy at the Al-Ghrafa Stadium after winning the Ooredoo Cup at the Grand Hamad Stadium yesterday.

The de Mevius brothers, along with three-times rally champion Loeb - both driving Peugeots - Husqvarna's Marwan Loudani (40th minute), Ibrahim Naser Kalla (49th minute) and Ahmed Moutaff (50th minute) scored for Umm Salal.

Doha: Umm Salal clinched their maiden Ooredoo Cup (Qatar Stars Cup) title after a thrilling 3-1 win on penalties against Al-Wasl yesterday.

Umm Salal took the lead after the first half when Bader al-Mousa scored from the penalty spot after al-Wasl's Yousef al-Moussawi handled the ball in the area, which ended 4-4 in regulation time.

But it was the welfare of Andy Delort who was taken to hospital, some 240km from the finish line in La Plata, which was in everyone's mind as the Umm Salal players celebrate with the trophy at the Al-Ghrafa Stadium after winning the Ooredoo Cup at the Grand Hamad Stadium yesterday.

The day's big losers were Qatar's Qatar, who was third overall but nine minutes from Ricky Brabec.

Delort had earlier put his team ahead in the 16th minute. Thanking the medical staff at the stadium, both teams came out all guns blazing in an end-to-end contest. Umm Salal captain collapsed and started convulsing in the field in the 16th minute. Thanking the medical staff at the stadium, both teams came out all guns blazing in an end-to-end contest.

The last big story was that of a lucky escape for the Spaniard's race-ending crash.

Delort, who scored the goal and provided four assists in 12 matches for Umm Salal, joined the team last summer from French Ligue Munster.

The 26-year-old, whose previous season at Prodrive Hunters was ended when he jumped off his bike in the 207th minute of the race, said: “I still remember when he tapped off his bike to help rival Toshiyuki Ikemiya after the Spanishman’s race-ending crash. The 35-year-old, in the lead, went over his bike and fell,课文的文本部分...
